Tillery Valley 'treat' for dedicated workers

Gwent-based food production firm Tillery Valley has rewarded members of staff with a trip to London to commemorate two decades of loyal service to the company. Four employees were invited to a day of celebrations in London and an overnight stay in a four star hotel to mark their achievement.

Tillery Valley is the prepared foods business of Sodexo, a leading provider of on-site service solutions. It delivers a wide range of nutritionally balanced dishes to hospitals, schools and local authorities, and offers a 'meals on wheels' service to care homes throughout the country. The company's production plant in Abertillery can produce up to one million meals per week, and employs 350 people locally.

Nigel Meredith, Mark Bevan, Mark Barnett and Carol Herridge were treated to afternoon tea on Bateaux London* the capital's leading dining cruise experience on the Thames, where the group was congratulated by Debbie White, the Chief Executive of Sodexo UK and Ireland, and thanked for their dedication to the company over twenty years. The celebrations continued with a ride on the London Eye and dinner at Madame Tussauds.

Site Director at Tillery Valley, Phil Hall said: "We just can't emphasise enough how much we value our employees at Tillery Valley. This group has been with us for twenty years, and it is only right that we acknowledge their huge commitment to our company.

"We believe that twenty years' of loyal service should be recognised. We hope that by rewarding this group it will show others working at Tillery Valley how much we value all employees' service to the company."
